

Lia J

delivers fresh, neo-souly, Alt RnB-Pop and pop with a tinge of jazz and hip-hop influences, turning her inner self inside out.

With disarming honesty, a great deal of self-irony and a heavy dose of flow, her songs deal with toxic relationships, wanderlust, daydreams, and the euphoria of youth - and thus strike right at the pulse of the times.

After numerous singles and a released EP (Date An Addict), she is currently collaborating with producer Bastido on their first joint album "mid20s", in which they address topics like social media addiction, time pressure, and the carefreeness of ones twenties. Earlier this year, the two performed their singles "Sugar Coat & White Lies" and "Alba" in front of a live audience at Bikini Berlin (Radio1). Their song "Summer Blues" was played on German radio for months and can still be heard on DLF Kultur.

Since June, Lia J is performing as a 4-piece band and had her first gig at Karsltorbahnhof in July.

Lia J's strong and soulful voice, paired with catchy melodies, immediately stay in your head. With a successful mix of RnB, pop and hip-hop, she creates melodies with flow and moving themes.
