

INTERNATIONAL CRITICS / INTERNATIONALE KRITIKEN Part II

I can by this.(and maybe I do!)

This I like! Beautiful downtoearthlaidbacksong. I like the chord progression, and so do Dylan, Young and a bunch of more. A little bit of J J Cale, a little bit of Chris Rea, and a bigger bit of your self. Nice clean sound. Think of how it could sound with two medium stringed steel dreadnought guitars! Whatever: I can by this!

review

I liked the almost spaghetti western feel of this - the guitar was well played and very clear and definite - I thought the vocal was good - I thought the voice had a quality and definitely thought the one more try section was very catchy - I also enjoyed the guitar solo - yeah liked it kinda catchy, spanishy feel.....

nice jumping rhythm on the guitar which I like a lot. Has a slightly spanish feel to it in this respect. it became obvious to me fairly quickly that a lot of thought has gone into the lyrics. the lead vocal is also quite good... the song is fairly short aswell which i like actually..long songs arent always necessary to make a good point. In conclusion I enjoyed listening, not specifically my style but a good song nonetheless. Nice work.

Cool Guitar

The lyrics are somewhat repetative at times but doesn't take away from the song at all-- The Guitar really hooks one into the piece-- Sound vocals and arangement drive this one home!!!
Good Work!!

Different

Somewhat of a Spanish feel, with it's bounce, it's like you crossed mexicana and country. They playing of the guitar was well done, the solos flawless. The different parts went together well and made a good truly acoustic song. Unlike a lot of other songs where they add several different instruments and call it acoustic. I like the way the voice went with the style of music defiantly a smart match.

Mixture of styles

Peppy strumming and plucky lead start this song off in the right direction. Very Richy Havens vocals. The strumming has a flamenco flavor to it while the vocal has a country Johnny Cash approach.

The performance and recording was all very closely mic'ed and sounded quite good.

Good feel to the song.

Nice spanish feel to the introduction. Good guitar work there. Then when vocals start guitar stays good and vocals work well. Hard to find something to fault as it all works together very nicely...
