

Coucou

Coucou is a 26-year-old independent singer-songwriter, born in Bremen and now based in Cologne. With a voice that carries raw emotion and a songwriting style that speaks straight to the heart, she creates music that resonates deeply with her audience. Music has been her lifelong companion: she started singing at just six years old and found her creative refuge in poetry, long before sharing her words with the world.

Inspired by powerhouse artists like Adele and Alicia Keys, she always knew that music was her calling. At 12, she performed Alicia Keys' "No One" at a school event—an experience that cemented her passion and fueled her determination. At 15, driven by artists like Ed Sheeran, she taught herself guitar, soon followed by piano, so she could bring her own songs to life on the streets of her hometown.

In 2023, Coucou made her official debut with the release of "Loving Eyes," followed by three more singles that showcase her ability to translate emotions into melodies. Her music is a reflection of everything that moves her: intimate, honest, and deeply personal. Often accompanying herself on guitar or piano, she creates a raw and acoustic atmosphere where her soulful lyrics and soft, yet powerful voice take center stage.

Having performed on various stages, Coucou's live shows offer a deeply authentic experience. Recently, she has expanded her sound, incorporating electronic elements and instrumentals into her live performances, giving her audience a fresh and dynamic insight into her artistry.

Whether performing in intimate settings or on larger stages, Coucou captivates listeners with her emotional depth and authenticity, making every song feel like a personal conversation.
