
"Amidst the Gray" is a complete and unique album that showcases the versatility of metalcore to a wider audience. With tight guitars, fast drums, and, of course, a brutally powerful vocal performance, a masterpiece has been created." – The Heavy Hunt

Changing Tides is a 5-piece metal band from the southern parts of The Netherlands. They get their influences from metalcore and deathcore bands like Bleed From Within, Thy Art is Murder and Lorna Shore. Their sound combines heavy guitar riffs, massive breakdowns and mysterious (vocal)orchestras. Changing Tides have released multiple EP's and albums including featurings with Dane Evans of To The Grave, Adam Warren of Oceano and Alan Grnja of Distant.

Their latest album 'Amidst The Gray' was well received by the Dutch press and their audience. With the upcoming EP this September they're expanding their sound from the latest releases and focusing on harder breakdowns and a more energetic live performance. All while retaining their signature guitar riffs, solos, and catchy choruses.

Changing Tides has played venues and festivals like Dynamo, Baroeg, 013, Dynamo Metal Fest and Jera On Air and shared the stage with bands like Escape the Fate, Dying Fetus, Trivium, Megadeth, Shadow of Intent, Signs of The Swarm and Distant. The band has a strong live show, good interaction with their audience and knows how to transform their powerful tracks into live action.

"With tight, hard-hitting riffs, the crowd starts dancing and bouncing from the very first song. The two singers complement each other well during the heavier parts, combining good screams with cleans. The riffs are groovy, and during the breakdowns, the crowd is shaken by the violence. After minimal encouragement from the singer, the room is split up for a wall of death, and the next breakdown rips through the room." – Metal Experience
