In mid 2008 six ambitious musicians from southern Germany sharing the same vision united under one common banner, to found a real metal band. The goal was to combine the ideas and experiences each band member accumulated in various bands and musical genres into a new project. A name for this aspiring band was quickly found: NAILGUN was born!

The musical style of NAILGUN can hardly be reduced to an established Metal Genre and phrases like “sounds like band X”, would bound to be in vain. The music is simply Metal abounding with joy of playing, power and energy!

Already in April 2011 the sextet could catch attention with its self-produced debut album "Paindustry" which is proved by a variety of positive reviews in different magazines in Germany and abroad. For example the EMP-Magazine says: “The songs are complex, interesting and always have their individual style.” And by the Austrian Earshot-Webzine “Paindustry” is described as “a really strong debut album with catchy hook lines.”

Shortly after the release of their debut the band started to write songs for the upcoming album which should be titled "New World Chaos." The 10 songs + intro show a significantly matured band that acts even more complex and varied than on the debut album: straight and aggressive metal numbers, complex and catchy songs, also balladic moments and groovy material – on "New World Chaos" everything is represented, always decorated with intricate guitar leads, catchy melodies and strong choruses. The two different singers now perform more varied, are now shown at their best and thus express the meaningful lyrics beyond current metal clichés perfectly,
